Archbishop Stritch's
Condition Improves
But Continues Grave

Vatican City —P— Samuel Cardinal Stritch, whose right arm was amputated three weeks ago, suffered a stroke today. Word reaching the Vatican was that his condition was grave.

The news of Cardinal Stritch's new seizure caused consternation at the Vatican. Pope Pius II was immediately notified.

The archbishop of Chicago previously had been recovering well from the amputation, which was made necessary by a blood clot in the arm. Yesterday he had celebrated mass for the first time since the operation.

Visted By Pope's Doctor

The cardinal was stricken again early today but by noon had recovered consciousness. A source close to Vatican authorities said he had improved slightly. "can talk again and can recognize people."

Among the few persons permitted to enter the cardinal's room was the pope's private physician, Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi. He told newsmen Cardinal Stritch was suffering from arterio sclerosis (hardening of the wall of the arteries) and thrombosis (blood clotting).

Doctors were reported giving the cardinal injections of a medicine that fights blood clotting. Hospital attendants said the cardinal suffered a "terrible thrombosis" that produced light paralysis of his right

Colman, Noted Film and TV Actor, Dies

Santa Barbara, Calif. —P— Ronald Colman, 67, suave creator of dozens of memorable movie roles, died today 24 hours after being hospitalized with a lung infection.

The British-born actor, a star and a favorite of film fans since 1922, was operated on for a lung infection.

Colman, who won an academy award in 1938 for his role in "A Double Life," started in such movies as "Lost Horizon," "Random Harvest," "A Tale of Two Cities," and "The Late George Apley."

During his long movie career Colman was known as a man of culture and distinction, and he lived the part in real life. Quiet and studious, he was fonder of browsing in antique shops and putting around in his garden than in living in the Hollywood spotlight.

Envisions Huge U. S. Economy

Weeks Looks for Annual Production
Of $600 Billion

New York —P— Secretary of Commerce Weeks said today the U. S. economy should provide 80 million jobs and a $600 billion annual production rate within 10 years.

But business is "the key to the revival and future expansion," he told an economic mobilization conference of businessmen organized by the American Management association.

Weeks said the government is determined to be "a stepping stone and not a stumbling block" in the path of recovery from the business recession. The secretary, however, gave no hint as to whether the administration will recommend tax reduction to stimulate public purchasing power, or what other steps may be taken.

Ike to Speak
President Eisenhower will address the conference tomorrow night, in what the White House has described as a major speech on the state of the economy. Businessmen have expected him to provide some substantial clues to the administration's thinking on possible stimulants to employment, sales and production.

Weeks put the challenge squarely up to industry itself, in these words:

"Irrespective of government's role in the economy, the star is business. For the chief business of private industry is to make private industry succeed."

"Therefore businessmen, representing more than four million independent enterprises, are the key to revival and future expansion. Their information, their attitudes, their decisions, their efforts and their confidence will be among the most potent factors in this year's economic picture."

Jupiter Missile First Ballistic Weapon to Solve Re-Entry Problem

Cape Canaveral, Fla. —P— The Jupiter intermediate range missile — a project the army almost lost five months ago — apparently is the first ballistic weapon to solve the re-entry challenge.

Army rocket men at the nation's missile test center agreed the re-entry success was due to an almost perfect shot of the mighty Jupiter shortly after midnight yesterday.

Scientists Study Cone
Some 41 hours after the launching the huge nose cone, the first full sized warhead ever mounted on a Jupiter IRBM, was plucked out of the Atlantic by frogmen and the crew of a navy auxiliary submarine rescue ship.

First reports indicated the re-entry test was a complete success. The precious nose cone was taken to Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala., where army

Harlem Chief Raps Powell

Charges Member of Congress Guilty of
'Preaching Hate'

New York —P— The political pot in Negro Harlem boiled hotter today with Manhattan Borough President Hulan E. Jack warning that Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, Jr. is "preaching hate" that could lead to "serious trouble."

Powell hinted yesterday that Harlem streets might not be safe for Jack and Carmine DeSapio, head of the Manhattan Democratic organization Tammany Hall. Tammany voted to dump Powell this year. Jack said he has received anonymous warning letters and that he would hold Powell responsible for anything that happened to his family. He said he lived in Harlem and Powell did not, and "he will not chase me out of Harlem."

Ike and Party Leaders Discuss Crises Abroad

Washington —P— President Eisenhower and Republican congressional leaders today discussed the tense international situation, including the crises in Lebanon, France and Algeria. Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California reported a general review of the world picture after his and other GOP leaders' meeting with Eisenhower.

Knowland declined to provide any detail, but said in response to a question that the discussion dealt at least in part with the critical situations in Lebanon, France and Algeria.

CAB Approves Air Service to Appleton

City Made Stop on New Flight
From Twin Cities to Milwaukee

Appleton was made a stop on a permanent new air route from Minneapolis to Milwaukee awarded today to North Central Airlines by the civil aeronautics board in Washington. Other stops will be at Marshfield and Eau Claire.

No details on how many routes in six other midwestern states.

The board said it will certify new service to the area on a "use it or lose it" basis, a new development in extending local service to a greater number of communities.

Many new routes are involved in Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, Wyoming, Colorado and Missouri.

Air Service at Least 90 Days Off

Frank Buttner, North Central vice president, this afternoon in Minneapolis, said it would be at least 90 days and probably longer before service would start. "But," he added, "one thing is sure — Appleton will have air service."

flights there will be or when they will start were immediately available. However, D. C. Evans, secretary of the Outagamie county board's airport and parks committee, said he assumed the plan certified earlier by a CAB examiner. This would include two flights daily each way. The certification was part of a CAB authorization for local airline service for the first time across Nebraska, North and South Dakota and to expand

2 Bombs Set Off in Beirut; Many Killed

About 150 Persons
Arrested as Police
Move Into Area

BEIRUT, Lebanon —P— Two bombs exploded in a crowded vegetable market here today. Many persons were killed and wounded.

Security forces moved swiftly into the area and arrested about 150 persons.

The vegetable dealers had defied an opposition general strike order and opened for business. For 10 days, housewives have been unable to buy fresh vegetables, fresh meat or other foods in the face of rioting, bombing, sniping and a general strike by foes of this country's pro-western regime.

Most Businesses Closed

For the last three days, however, Beirut has been comparatively quiet, in contrast to the northern city of Tripoli, and some merchants decided to do a little business. The vegetable market was the first to open and was bustling with activity when the bombs went off. Within minutes it was deserted, except for security forces and ambulance crews.

Few other businesses opened. In Tripoli, the government again held control after a week-end of bitter fighting.

Government May Fall as Result of Venezuelan Crisis

Washington —P— The political crisis in Venezuela appears so serious its government may fall, informed sources said today.

The mob attacks on Vice President and Mrs. Nixon apparently revealed the weakness of the government.

Resignation over the weekend of 20 civilian members of the junta came after repeated reports here that the two civilians, and many military officers, have been dissatisfied with what they called the junta's soft policy toward communists and leftists.

State department officials declined to be interviewed about the situation, but it was obvious they are deeply concerned about developments in Venezuela and are watching them closely.

Several thousand communists and leftists returned to Venezuela from Mexico and other countries after the overthrow of the dictatorship of Gen. Marcos Perez Jimenez on Jan. 23.

Although their activities were officially banned during the dictatorship, communists operated underground and at times publicly.

Feels Present Situation Hopeless With Disunity and Near-Revolt in Algeria

BY GODFREY ANDERSON

Paris —P— Gen. Charles de Gaulle today repudiated the role of dictator but said he remains ready to try to lead France out of chaos.

The wartime hero described himself as "a man belonging to nobody but belonging to all" and added:

"Have I ever attacked the fundamental liberties of the republic? No. I restored them. How could you have me at 67 start a career as a dictator?"

But he made it clear he feels the present situation, with party enemies in Paris and the army in near-revolt in Algeria, is hopeless. He said the parties have betrayed France.

As he spoke to a news conference, the city's subway system came to a halt and many buses left their runs. This was in a response to a communist call of protest. The communists picture De Gaulle as aiming at a one-man rule.

Thousands of police stood alert to prevent any demonstrations for or against the general.

De Gaulle again did not specify the exact terms under which he would assume national leadership. But he insisted this would have to be on his terms—not in the way a long string of premiers have followed since 1946, through solicitation of support from various parties. The present government is the 25th since World war II.

Defends Army Officers
De Gaulle blamed the Algerian situation on the Paris government and said the army officers there are not rebels in his book. Actually, he said, the army deserves a "well done" for keeping disorders from turning into riots.

The general, dressed in a gray suit, spoke in a firm voice. He made a statement and cut off questioning after a half hour's session. "I am going back to my village, but I remain at the disposition of the country," he said.

As he left, "De Gaulle to power" shouts were heard outside the hotel where he met the press.

At the outset, De Gaulle made it clear he felt that the present regime, encompassing many parties, could accomplish nothing.

"The powers of the republic? When one assumes them they are the powers that the republic gives you!"

"It is certain that if De Gaulle saw exceptional powers delegated to him in an exceptional moment for an exceptional task, it could not be done according to the habitual rites and procedure. It would be necessary to institute an exceptional procedure for investiture by the national assembly."

"In such a case, I will make known to the right persons what sort of procedure I feel is adequate."

Restored Republic
De Gaulle said the powers of the republic seemed perfectly clear. He continued:

"I myself restored its arms, its laws, its name. I made the war for the victory of France and the victory of the republic with all those who accepted to join me. At their head I re-established the republic at home. In its name, for its account in conformity with its genius, my government accomplished an enormous task of renovation."

He recalled that his provisional government after World

Girl, 22, Hit By Train; Dies

Mary Lou Jorgensen,
Route 3, Neenah,
Struck While Walking

Menasha—Mary Lou Jorgensen, 22, route 2, Neenah, was killed when hit by a Chicago and North Western passenger train near the Marathon corporation carton plant, just north of Garfield avenue, at 2 o'clock Sunday morning.

She was a 1954 graduate of Appleton High school and was a junior at the University of Wisconsin.

According to Menasha police, Miss Jorgensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan P. Jorgensen, route 2, Neenah, was walking south across a bridge when hit by the train, which was going south, also.

Her body wasn't found until after 7 o'clock in the morning when the engineer of another passenger train saw parts of her body along the tracks. A conductor on the train called Neenah police, who then called Menasha police.

Police theorized she was struck near the south end of the bridge.

Arthur Lemke, 121 River street, a railroad flagman, told police he saw Miss Jorgensen fall down three times while

65 Persons Killed After Airliner Crashes in Flames

Casablanca, Morocco —P— Sixty-five persons died in flames yesterday when a Belgian Sabena airliner crashed while landing for repairs to a bad engine. Many of those killed were returning from vacations and visits to the world's fair in their native Belgium.

Only four passengers escaped through a hatchway before the plane exploded in flames. At least eight of the dead were children. No Americans were listed on the manifest. It was the worst crash in the airline's history.

The 4-engine DC6B had taken off from Brussels with the Belgian Congo as its final destination. Heading south from Portugal the pilot radioed that one of his engines was vibrating and he planned to land at Casablanca for repairs. He jettisoned gasoline before reaching Casablanca's Cazes airport.

Even the rescuees said the plane's approach was bad. The pilot gunned the engines but the big ship did not respond. It missed the runway, plowed through a building and came to a stop against another airport structure.

Inside the plane, passenger Edouard Pilat ripped off his seat belt and opened the door. Three others followed him out then the plane blew up.

Pilat was badly burned but expected to live. One passenger, Jacques Genier was not even kept at the hospital. The dead included the nine Belgian crewmen: 41 Belgian passengers, 7 Britons, 5 Portuguese, 1 Dutch, 1 German and 1 Swiss.

Lucey Refuses to be Neutral Chairman

Lectures Democratic Party Leaders Who Try to Stifle His Opinions on Candidates Seeking Nomination

By The Associated Press
The Democratic state chairman, Patrick Lucey, lectured party leaders who sought Sunday to stifle his opinions about candidates seeking Democratic nomination for office.

"I have never been neutral about anything," Lucey told the party's state administrative committee. "And I don't intend to be now."

Lucey said, "I'm aware that it is a tradition in the party that the state chairman should remain neutral."

"It's also a tradition that we lose elections."

The committee voted 10-9 against a motion by Philo Nash, former state chairman, to require Lucey to be impartial.

Lucey had remarked, "If this motion is passed, I will not be bound by it. I was elected to this office by the state convention, not by this committee."

Provoke Criticism
Lucey's support of John Reynolds of Green Bay for his party's nomination for attorney general provoked criticism.

His remark came shortly after Christ Seraphim, Milwaukee county Democratic chairman, had announced he too was running for attorney general.

Daniel H. O. A. Milwaukee, termed it "a Phil Lafollette-Tammany Hall" attitude.

Harvey Kitzman, Milwaukee, supported Lucey, saying it was ridiculous to demand impartiality by the state chairman while his fellow members of the state administrative committee remained free to back the candidates of their choice.

In another action Sunday, the committee received the announcement of Harry W. Polakowski, 45, Milwaukee, factory worker, that he will seek the party's nomination for lieutenant governor.

Announces Candidacy
Polakowski's announcement followed Saturday night's declaration by Milwaukee Atty. Harry Halloway that he was running for lieutenant governor. A third candidate, Milwaukee Atty. Jerome D. Grant, had announced previously he was seeking the post of lieutenant governor.

Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass) urged support of Sen. William Proxmire and Democratic gubernatorial candidate Gaylord Nelson Saturday night as he addressed the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Milwaukee.

Kennedy said Wisconsin could demonstrate the rebirth of liberalism by reelecting Sen. William Proxmire and electing Gaylord Nelson, the Democratic party's candidate for governor.

Billy Graham Warns of End of World
San Francisco — Evangelist Billy Graham, who began the fourth week of his San Francisco crusade yesterday, takes his customary day of rest today.

Speaking to an overflow crowd of nearly 20,000 at the Cow Palace, he warned Sunday of the end of the world, citing churches for failing to give "both warning and hope and then offered some hope of his own."

"The Bible says that when the conditions that were present in Noah's time are present again, God will come to judge the world. These conditions are here now," Graham said, "but we are living in the days of grace in which God says 'You Can Be Saved' by having faith in Christ."

Neither scientists nor college degrees can save the world, he told a Stanford University audience before his Cow Palace talk.

"Some of our finest brains and intellects are being given to the creation of the weapons of war instead of the weapons of peace," Graham said, "but we don't need more PhD's, we need more Christ."

The evangelist said he didn't know when God's judgment would come to the world, although "it can come at any time. The church has failed to give the people both warning and hope. This is where the believers have us over a barrel. They promise a new world."

Some 671 people stepped forward at Graham's plea that there was "never a more convenient time than now to make your decision for Christ."

No Quick End Seen to Snarl Over Indians

Federal Control to Cease but Question Of Costs Unsolved

Washington — No immediate end is in sight to the snarl over termination of federal control over the Menominee tribe of Indians of Wisconsin.

The law now on the books specifies that such control will end on Dec. 31, 1958, and that all termination costs, estimated at about $500,000, will be borne by the federal government.

However, the house in 1957 adopted a bill by Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., extending from Dec. 31, 1958 to June 30, 1961 the time for termination of federal control.

Senate Version
But the senate last year in adopting its version of the bill set the termination date as Dec. 31, 1960, and adopted an amendment by Sen. Richard Neuberger, D-Ore., to provide that only about half of the costs be paid for by the government. The Indians would pay the rest.

There the matter sat until three weeks ago when senate-house conferees finally agreed to accept the senate version.

Strong Objection
However, Laird strongly objected to this and has been seeking to have the conferees go into a huddle again on the matter. This has held up the conference report from being presented to the senate and house.

Laird, who is not a member of the conference committee, said: "I am confident if this version goes before the house that we will be successful in having the house turn it down and request another meeting of the conference committee."

Should Not Change
"The law adopted in 1956 specifies that all costs be borne by the government. The Neuberger amendment is retroactive for the past two years and would apply to the approximately $700,000 already spent in termination costs. That is unfair to the Menominee tribe. We should not change the rules in the middle of the game."

Rep. James A. Haley, D-Fla., chairman of the house conferees, said he is willing to meet again on the matter whenever such a meeting is requested.

Neuberger was not available but a spokesman said senate conferees also are agreeable to another meeting on the cost issue. He indicated the senate conferees might agree to some compromise on how much the Indians should pay of the termination costs.

UAW, Big Three Resume Talks On New Contracts
Detroit — Negotiations between the United Auto Workers and the industry's big three, entered the final fortnight drive today before current contracts expire.

The union resumed bargaining on all three fronts — General Motors, Chrysler and Ford.

The UAW gave an explanation yesterday of a meeting at the summit last Tuesday with top officials of Ford. But the union denied the conference had anything to do with current contract negotiations.

Ken Bannan, the UAW's Ford department director, said UAW president Walter Reuther got together with Ford president Henry Ford II. Other top level officials from both sides also attended.

Bannan said the conference dealt with "procedural matters related to the expiration (June 1) of the current contract in the event a new agreement has not been reached by that time."

In the Wake of Saturday's Tornado, residents of Wausaukee, in Marinette county, poke through the wreckage of a blacksmith shop operated by Harry Harding and owned by Joseph Netupski. Damage was estimated at about $150,000. (AP Wirephoto)

Twister Rips Into Small Marinette County Town

Wausaukee Chamber of Commerce Head Estimates Total Damage at $150,000

Wausaukee, Wis. — A tornado whined into this small Marinette county village Saturday, crumpling the blacksmith shop and damaging the bank and several other buildings.

The violent injury was a broken arm suffered by a woman who tumbled down the stairs of her home. She was treated by a physician but officers did not learn her name.

Robert Keating, Amberg Telephone company president and head of the local chamber of commerce, estimated damage at $150,000.

The violent twister flattened Joseph Netupski's blacksmith shop and a garage at the home of Mrs. Theresa Savage.

Also damaged were the bank, Laun's Hardware store, a cheese factory and a warehouse.

The wind splintered a section of the grandstand at the fairgrounds and hurled the wooden wreckage against the home of Mrs. Savage.

Trees Toppled
Trees were toppled and uprooted as the tornado, moving eastward, cut a swath about 300 feet wide through the village.

The tops of trees on farms east of the village also were ripped off by the twister.

All of the damaged business buildings were 1-story frame structures except the bank, which is a two-story brick building.

The village of 655 residents is located 25 miles northwest of Marinette and about five miles east of the Menominee river, the borderline of Michigan's upper peninsula.

California Frog World's Best Jumper
Tule Jim, monarch of an Oakland Calif. bog, is the new world champion jumping frog.

Tule Jim hopped 14 feet 5 1/2 inches in three hops yesterday and won the 32nd annual international Jumping Frog Derby, which is based on Mark Twain's yarn. The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County.

Tule Jim landed two feet short of the world mark of 16 feet 10 inches set in 1954 by a lady frog named Lucky.

Owned by Chuck Backacker, Tule Jim was only an inch and a quarter ahead of his stablemate, Maggie. Owned by Backacker's son Larry, Maggie was followed by Tule Pete (no known relation to Tule Jim) who leaped 13 feet 7 1/2 inches for third place. Pete is the pride of Mike Voitch, Stockton, Calif.

Qualifying trial jumps don't count, otherwise the record would have been broken this year by several frogs.

The best an imported frog could manage was the 12 feet 10 inches hopped off by Veni a turn-out of less than 40 per cent of the 5,170,133 eligible entered by Piern Fourie and Mrs. Teuns Botha of Eysburg, Transvaal.

Rolli, a frog from Sunne, Sweden, did 4 feet 9 inches. Rolli may have been incompletely recovered from laying 5,000 eggs here during training last week.

West Germany's Policy Attacked

Socialist Boss Says Adenauer Goes Down 'Dangerous Road'

Stuttgart, Germany — Socialist Leader Erich Ollenhauer accused Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today of leading West Germany down a dangerous road to "new militarist and nationalist adventures" by agreeing to accept atomic weapons.

Ollenhauer told a socialist party convention: "It is totally absurd to enter West Germany in the nuclear arms race. Atomic arms give no security. This is irresponsible gambling with the lives of our people and brings us nearer to catastrophe."

Ollenhauer, whose party is bitterly opposed to atomic weapons for West German forces, said it is unwise to continue the arms race because the three atomic powers—the United States, Britain and Russia—have enough nuclear weapons to destroy the world.

Only militarists and nationalists, he charged, want atomic arms because they feel no country can be respected unless it manufactures them.

He delivered a slashing personal attack, then, on Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss, he said, is one of those pushing for atomic arms because he is an irresponsible power seeker. He said the German-French-Italian arms pool started by Strauss is nothing more than a club for nations waiting to become nuclear powers.

Ollenhauer demanded an end to the atomic arms race and called for more strenuous efforts to negotiate world peace with the Russians.

Prospect of Light Vote May Hurt Stassen's Chances

Philadelphia — The prospect of a light vote may hamper Harold Stassen's chances of winning the Republican nomination for governor in an independent ticket in tomorrow's Pennsylvania's primary election.

A light vote in a Pennsylvania primary traditionally favors candidates backed by state political organizations.

Stassen is running against the Republican organization candidate, Arthur T. McGehee of Reading, head of one of the largest pretzel firms in the country. William S. Livingston, former state secretary of internal affairs, also is making an independent bid for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

Organization leaders predict a turnout of less than 40 per cent of the 5,170,133 eligible voters — 2,787,719 Republicans and 2,451,414 Democrats.

Pittsburgh Mayor David L. Lawrence, 68, is the Democratic organization candidate for governor. His chief opposition is Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman, running on an independent ticket.

Governors Find Little Unanimity on Major Problems Facing U. S.

Conferees Split on Tax Cutting, Politics, Civil Rights, Recession

Miami Beach, Fla. — Ribicoff of Connecticut said on a television program with Stratton that President Eisenhower ought to call in top Democrats and Republicans in congress to attempt to end what Ribicoff said was a stalemate an anti-recession efforts.

However, Stratton said, he thinks public works already scheduled represent as big a program as the nation ought to undertake now. Leader said new public works projects take so long to get started they probably won't do much toward relieving unemployment.

Democrats generally forecast their party will make telling gains in this year's battle for control of congress. Republicans disputed this, pointing to farm price increases as one of their chief hopes for political advances.

Civil Rights
GOP Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois, the conference chairman, barred any official action on civil rights. But Democratic Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida persisted in efforts to sell his idea for federal-state commissions to handle local school integration problems.

Gov. Averell Harriman, New York Democrat, called for a tax reduction for lower and middle income groups—a field in which disagreement cut across party lines.

Stratton and Democratic Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania opposed any general reduction which would increase the federal deficit at a time when government spending is being accelerated.

GOP Gov. Lane Dwinell of New Hampshire viewed a large-scale tax cut as a last resort move against an economic recession. He said he would fear the effect of such action on the federal budget.

Civil Rights
GOP Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois, the conference chairman, barred any official action on civil rights. But Democratic Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida persisted in efforts to sell his idea for federal-state commissions to handle local school integration problems.

Gov. Averell Harriman, New York Democrat, called for a tax reduction for lower and middle income groups—a field in which disagreement cut across party lines.

Stratton and Democratic Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania opposed any general reduction which would increase the federal deficit at a time when government spending is being accelerated.

GOP Gov. Lane Dwinell of New Hampshire viewed a large-scale tax cut as a last resort move against an economic recession. He said he would fear the effect of such action on the federal budget.

Stratton reported Illinois is faring better economically than other industrial states. Leader said Pennsylvania is hard hit, adding he thinks the quickest solution lies in acceleration of public works projects.

Democratic Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut said on a television program with Stratton that President Eisenhower ought to call in top Democrats and Republicans in congress to attempt to end what Ribicoff said was a stalemate an anti-recession efforts.

However, Stratton said, he thinks public works already scheduled represent as big a program as the nation ought to undertake now. Leader said new public works projects take so long to get started they probably won't do much toward relieving unemployment.

Democrats generally forecast their party will make telling gains in this year's battle for control of congress. Republicans disputed this, pointing to farm price increases as one of their chief hopes for political advances.

News Broadcast Jamming Shows Soviet Fears

$100 Million a Year Spent Just to Block Free World Programs

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — What are the men in the Kremlin afraid of? They talk glibly about wanting better understanding between the Soviet and the American peoples. But the jamming of broadcasts of news from the United States into the countries behind the Iron Curtain continues with renewed intensity.

It is reliably estimated that out of the several billions in its propaganda budget, the Soviet government is spending $100,000,000 a year just to jam radio broadcasts from stations in the free world to Russia and the captive countries. This is about the same amount that congress appropriates for the entire program of information dissemination through radio, movies and books by the U.S. Information agency.

The number of persons inside Russia who understand English is limited, so the broadcasts by the "Voice of America" when made in English are tolled outside the Soviet Union not interfered with — besides. Can it be that the communists the Moscow authorities like to really fear the effect on the transcribe for themselves what people of their own country and is being said. The broadcasts on the minds of the inhabitants in the Russian language, how- of the captive countries if the ever, and in all slavic languages sent from stations in Europe both by the United States and her allies are always jammed. This means that electronic devices are used in various places to interfere with transmission. The authorities also censor every newspaper and magazine published in the Soviet Union, and instructions are regularly issued banning the publication of certain kinds of information. Throughout the Soviet Union, the radio is used 24 hours a day, with considerable repetition and persistence, to explain the government's point of view to the people. The apologists for the Soviet Union claim they practice "democracy." They use the phrase "Union of Soviet Socialist Republics" and often refer to "freedom" but, curiously enough, the men in command are afraid to let the Soviet people get both sides of public questions. The people are told that the government has made up its mind as to what is right and proper for them to know, and anyone who differs is suspected of treason. While the existence of this sort of intimidation is well known outside the Soviet Union, there is no clear explanation as to why the Kremlin is afraid to let the truth come in. No such timidity is shown with respect to the admission of musical groups or ballets or works of art, and there are even token examples of government tolerance of a few Christian churches.

What Is Behind Fear? What is behind the fear that causes the Soviet authorities to spend so much time and money jamming the "Voice of America" broadcasts in the Russian and Slavic languages? There was a time when the communists said they were proud to have the Russian language "evacuated" when made in English are tolled outside the Soviet Union not interfered with — besides. Can it be that the communists the Moscow authorities like to really fear the effect on the transcribe for themselves what people of their own country and is being said. The broadcasts on the minds of the inhabitants in the Russian language, how- of the captive countries if the ever, and in all slavic languages sent from stations in Europe both by the United States and her allies are always jammed. not brought under control. The president of Lebanon, Camille Chamoun, is now receiving a familiar pattern. In 1952, Chamoun's predecessor, President Bechara El Khoury, was seeking to amend the Lebanese constitution so that he could succeed himself in office. On that occasion, groups friendly to Chamoun demonstrated against the constitutional change. The Lebanese army commander, Gen. Shehab, held aloof from the struggle. So Bechara El Khoury had to flee the country for a while, and Camille Chamoun was elected to the presidency.

As one of the west's stoutest friends in the Arab world, Camille Chamoun furthermore has an importance that Bechara El Khoury altogether lacked. Another leading western friend in the Middle East, King Saud of Saudi Arabia, has already succumbed to Nasser's attacks. If Nasser can also pick off Chamoun in the Lebanon, the chain reaction will almost certainly become quite uncontrollable. King Hussein of Jordan, the government of Iraq and every other western friend in all the Middle East will be at once exposed to the most deadly peril. And if these friends are lost, the oil-jugular will be cut.

Western and American interests are similarly threatened in almost every other quarter of the globe at the moment. The plain truth is the peril might have been avoided, or at least contained by greater, wiser and bolder American leadership. Despite many previous errors of policy, the United States still stood at the head of the world in 1952. Despite the great losses since 1952, the United States can again stand at the head of the world, given the needed leadership — which could well be provided, in this reporter's opinion, by Vice President Nixon. But the end of the road is now clearly discernible, if we go on as we are going.

Regional Planning at the Crossroads

One of the serious weaknesses of the Fox Valley Regional Planning commission is that it cannot take any important action without the unanimous approval of its member municipalities, which now number 10. It is something like the United Nations Security Council, in that any one of the "big powers" has the veto. If one of the commission's smaller municipalities were to refuse to go along with commission action, we suppose the remainder could close ranks and make up the difference in money; but there is little doubt that should one of the four city members — Appleton, Kaukauna, Neenah or Menasha — do so, the commission would be handicapped.

And yet in the long run this is well that this condition exists, at least during this stage of the commission's life. For the regional planning idea here is now at the crossroads: the commission has asked the municipalities to go along with the most important project it probably ever will undertake, the preparation of the master plan for the area. If it is turned down, the commission itself can have little further use; if it is approved, regional planning will be on the way to becoming a reality within two or three years.

It will seem unfortunate to many, we are sure, that such a vital undertaking should be at the mercy of any one of the 10 municipalities that make up the commission, or at least at the mercy of any one of the larger ones. Yet this fact gives these municipalities a chance to get the regional planning idea started on the soundest kind of foundation — a foundation of unanimity among the governing bodies of these municipalities. If regional planning can pass this test, its future should be assured.

One of the worries expressed at the recent meeting of the Neenah and Menasha city councils which considered the master plan idea was that support for this plan by the Twin Cities might delay badly needed local planning. The Secretary of the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce pointed out that the Twin Cities face immediate planning problems of their own; they cannot, he said, wait three years (the time it will take for a regional master plan to be prepared) to see them solved.

We think this is an objection the regional commission should take seriously, and do something about. Certainly the regional planning concept should be flexible enough so that immediate problems facing the individual municipalities can be attacked at the same time that regional planning is being done. We can see no reason, for instance, why the commission staff or the outside company preparing the regional plan cannot go right to work on the Twin Cities' immediate problems at the same time that work on the regional plan is being started. In fact it is logical that it be done this way, since any logical plan that fits into the master plan, and much of the research that would be done for local planning would be the same as for regional planning.

Regional planning is one of those areas of civic action in which the Fox Cities are well out ahead of the rest of Wisconsin; ours is the only such commission so far in the state. The decision to be made by the various municipal governing bodies on whether to go ahead with the preparation of a master plan will determine whether we are going to stay out ahead.

High Wages, High Taxes Pushing U. S. Products From World Markets

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY
(Copyright, 1958)

Walter C. Furst writes me that he cannot understand why he cannot write the American consumer should subsidize the inefficient American producer. Would it not be in the common interest if we permit these inefficient producers to go out of business and let the excess labor be hired by the more efficient producers who can compete on world markets?

This is an extremely interesting idea because Mr. Furst does not recognize why the American producer cannot compete price-wise with west German, Japanese or Soviet sphere products in world markets. After all, there was a period when American producers were the most efficient in the world and during two wars, it was the American producer who set a standard of production unequalled in the history of the world. It was the American mill and factory that won World Wars I and II.

Wages Too High

It is now evident that the American producer has outpriced himself in world markets and has therefore become non-competitive in many fields, even in the American market. To understand this, it is necessary to discover the causes of this price factor. Walter Reuther has recognized this problem in the automobile industry and has made several proposals which do not seem economically feasible.

The principal cause is high wages which, in their relationship to price, become cumulative from the labor that goes into the gathering of raw materials in mine and farm to the painting of the finished automobile. About 25 per cent of the American labor force is affected directly or indirectly by this one industry and the largest item in its budget is wages and benefits.

Wages reflect not only the American high standards of living but also the inflationary trend which has been continuous since the beginning of the Korean war. Those commodities which are a product of automatic or even semi-automatic machinery, requiring only the time of the worker but no particular skills, can be produced in one country as well as another. If that country has access to the raw materials or the partially manufactured materials required to make them. A stamping machine can be worked by a coolie as well as by a high school graduate, and actually that is happening all over the world, bringing in an industrial revolution in many so-called backward countries.

What Mr. Furst suggests by implication is that the lower standard of living and the higher standard of living countries because they can produce identical items at lower costs.

A second factor in this situation is taxation which is an item of cost. All forms of taxation, individual and corporate, come out of earnings and so are a factor in wages and salaries. Therefore, countries where there fore need to be paid may have a price advantage over countries where higher wages are paid. This particularly gives an advantage to those countries which have enjoyed American economic or military aid, thus relieving the producing personnel of those countries of part of the cost of operations and by that means putting them in a better position than their American competitors who have to pay high wages and high taxes.

The third factor in efficient

State Republicans Ask No Tie With President

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The utter absence of discussion of the national administration of President Eisenhower and his program and purposes in the new Wisconsin Republican campaign getting underway must rank as one of the provocative questions of the day in local politics.

When the topic was first broached here a month or so ago, it was in a tentative fashion. But sufficient time has now passed to provide corroboration of what then was only a hunch — that the Wisconsin Republican party this year will campaign strictly on its own, without any more affiliation with the national administration than is necessary.

"Our people are going it alone," said one oldline Republican party leader when he was reminded of the situation by a reporter the other day.

But then he paused, and mused:

"It is rather strange, isn't it? But it has seemed so natural that I haven't even figured out an answer for it.

THE ANSWER

Yet the answer isn't very hard to locate.

The fact that the president is heading for retirement — that he is in his last term — is undoubtedly one of the reasons why he is slipping as a party leader and as the philosophical teacher of his party.

Yet it probably is only a minor one, as far as the practical local politicians and especially the candidates are concerned.

Deeper concerns include the fact there is very little on the White House agenda currently that appears very saleable or palatable to the home-state Republican. Among rural Republicans, still influential in the local GOP, there is a vast disillusionment about farm policy decisions — on their merit, or on the basis of their supposed political reaction along the milk routes of the state. Among old-line conservatives there is great disappointment about finance and tax policies.

The other day the president delivered a pep talk to Republican congressmen. But as local politicians see it, there is very little vote-getting potential in Wisconsin this year in the great speeches of that Eisenhower theme — and that in reciprocal trade, mutual assistance, and reorganization of the Pentagon.

There is the recollection of the cruel fate visited upon those men recently who have run as simon-pure hangers on to the presidential coat-tails, including Walter J. Kohler in Wisconsin only last August.

AN EXPERIENCE

One of this chronicler's best friends in politics, and a thoroughly reliable observer, is a man of some rank in the Republican party. He offered a little story the other day that is in point.

This party veteran was chatting with an old friend, a farmer, about political viewpoints.

The farmer observed that he considered President Eisenhower one of the great men of modern times, that he was a heroic commander-in-chief and a loveable person.

He allowed that he liked his smile and his speeches and that he had voted for him twice and would vote for him again if he could.

Then he ended: "But he sure is a lousy president." As some acute politicians see it, that farmer was expressing the views of many thousands of voters who are less articulate about their feelings.

Concluded my informant: "I believe that President Eisenhower has the devotion and the personal respect of the people, but he hasn't got their confidence. If he did, we wouldn't be worrying now about carrying the house and the senate."

Missing Hunter Found in Jail

Phoenix, Ariz. — A missing hunter who had sheriff's officers searching the rugged Superstition mountains was found safe and sound — in the county jail.

Anell Thomas, 60, of Phoenix left on a javelin hunt and, when he failed to return on the scheduled date, the search was started. After two days, deputies discovered Thomas was serving a 30-day jail sentence on a public nuisance charge.

A Fire We Should Know More About

The Senate Rackets committee will investigate the fire that destroyed Allgauer's Fireside restaurant in Lincolnwood, a north Chicago suburb, early this week.

That means there is a suspicion that the fire may have been the result of the restaurant management's dealings with corrupt union management. What is more important, it means that the public stands a good chance of learning the truth about this fire.

The fire, which caused damage estimated at close to a million dollars, was deliberately set by two skulking hoodlums who hid themselves in a storeroom in the building until after closing time. Then they rounded up the few remaining employees and one bandit held them at gun point while the other spent about two hours laying the fire.

No one was injured in the fire although the seven employees who were held in the building until it was fired were in serious danger. There is the possibility that the fire was started by an angry competitor or by a disgruntled former employee, but the deliberate, businesslike manner of handling the job makes it appear to be the work of practiced racketeers.

Chicago investigators have pointed out that Gustav Allgauer, the owner, has been cooperating with investigators for the rackets committee to the extent of permitting them to copy some of the restaurant's records. The originals of these records are believed to have been largely destroyed in the fire, and there is the possibility that their destruction was one of the purposes of the arson.

Allgauer at first thought it wise to conceal the fact that he had been in contact with the Senate Rackets committee, but later admitted that he had. He then explained, "There are certain things you keep quiet about and that is one of them."

Those familiar with the Chicago scene have no hesitancy in marking the fire down as merely another of a long list of terror attacks against restaurants and as open warning that they must expect to deal with hoodlums in their business. Since at this time there appears to be no other good reason for the attack, it is assumed that the businessmen are warned not to cooperate with the rackets committee.

It will be interesting to see what the committee can find out. Who will turn up as protectors of the hoodlums among the Chicago businessmen and politicians, and who will have the courage to talk? One thing is very certain — someone is protecting the acts, for they do not appear such a brazen act without protection.

Languages in America

One of the deficits in the armory of American resources to deal with a dangerous world is in the state of our language proficiency.

Having lived in relative isolation during most of their national history, Americans typically have not mastered foreign languages to the degree that the inhabitants of the kindred nations of Europe have, as a matter of course, during their own national experience. John Wyngaard in a recent article from Washington relating an interview with a Netherlands embassy official there remarked with some envy and surprise about the lingual skills of the embassy clerks and other minor functionaries. It was explained to him that Dutch nationals must quite literally master many languages besides their native tongue as a matter of economic survival in a small country on a continent of many tongues.

It can be said that the average man and woman of superior education in America today has less language accomplishment than his counterpart in England, or Germany, or perhaps even Russia.

This is a matter of concern and importance in America's vital role in world politics today.

James Reston astute and far-ranging

Washington correspondent of the New York Times, recently wrote with dismay about the discovery that only a small handful of the young men who apply for foreign service officer positions in our government can show a proficiency in a foreign language. This means, of course, that they must enroll in elementary language courses after their appointments, although they are presumably highly educated candidates when they arrive.

The American Council of Learned Societies recently presented another phase of the language problem.

Today there are at least 40 modern languages in use around the world for which America doesn't even have a supply of teachers of textbooks to train prospective students, the society has advised a committee of Congress. Most of us probably have never heard Telugu spoken. Most of us won't. But it is the language of millions of people in India, one of the great uncommitted nations of the world. Obviously Americans dealing with Indian statesmen and people would find their tasks easier with some mastery of native languages.

The American tongue must be trained to follow American diplomacy, American military resources and American dollars around a rapidly contracting world.

When Patience Is Virtue

BY JOSEPH H. PECK, M.D.
(Condensed from the book, "All About Men," Copyright 1958, By Prentice-Hall, Inc.)

The first hazard of marriage occurs within a few hours after the wedding ceremony, provided, of course, that no torrid rehearsals have been enacted.

The male wants to prove his masculinity and the bride expects him to do just that.

They silently blame each other for misunderstanding. The possibility that he is less than perfect is so repulsive to the man that he refuses to accept the idea, preferring to blame his partner.

And sometimes he is right. An aggressive female throws him on the defensive, and his bodily urges concentrate in a subconscious desire to run He must be the aggressor. He must have confidence in his ability to dominate the situation; he must believe that he is the greatest lover since Casanova.

If he loses this feeling, he becomes so neurotic he feels all his other accomplishments are ashes, and he will follow any female who tells him he is wonderful, regardless of consequences or the siren's looks.

You Must Compromise

Any good doctor will tell you that the average woman takes longer to achieve a state of readiness than men. Compromise is therefore necessary.

The young (or old) husband should develop his bride's ardor, while the woman should learn to hold him off without hurting his feelings or getting him discouraged.

Compare a man to a modern car equipped with power steering, decided to give her one more whirl, and if that didn't work, he figured he'd get a horse. During that last crank the engine exploded with a rattle that sounded like a cement drill, and if he wasn't prepared for it, the crank flew around and knocked him clear across the garage.

A slow warm-up, with particular attention to every detail, and yours will be a happy household with neither party looking over members of the opposite sex with that tell-tale gleam.

But if you are remiss in this duty, you'd better prepare for trouble. Some girls will cheat; others will make the doctor rich and acquire a miserable outlook on life.

Now, if ever, is the time to realize that gentleness and patience are the cardinal virtues and the key to a happy marriage.

Danish Youth To Study Here

KHS First Foreign Exchange Student To Arrive in August

Kaukauna — Aage Fredenslud of Roskilde, Denmark, will be the first foreign exchange student at Kaukauna High school, according to word received by Margo Paschen, president of the student council.

Money to bring the foreign student to Kaukauna was raised by student council projects for the last several years. Besides the $600 needed to bring the student to this country, high school students raised additional funds to help the youth meet expenses after he arrives here.

Fredenslud is 17-years old and has two brothers and five sisters. Besides his native tongue, the exchange student has studied English for four and one-half years and also speaks French and German. While in Kaukauna he will make his home with Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Haass whose son Lee is a senior at the high school.

Although the youth has not decided on a career he expresses an interest in mathematics and science with particular emphasis on nature study. Last year the student toured Sweden on a bicycle with a group of other students, studying nature as they went. The Denmark boy is expected in Kaukauna about the middle of August to give him time to become acquainted with his new family before the start of school.

Safety-Conscious Rural Youth Tell
Dramatic Story in 13 Parade Floats

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

There's no doubt about the interest of Outagamie county's 4-H clubs in the subject of safety. Their floats Saturday afternoon in the Rural Youth day parade proved the point 13 times. And they did it well.

Safety was portrayed in every way imaginable — graphically, educationally, whimsically and even in a modern futuristic manner. Perhaps two more original ideas would have been in the annual street spectacle had not German measles caught up with the clubs unable to show.

Everywhere the green and white 4-leaved clover insignia was evident, prominently displayed on the floats in what seemed to be a badge of pride in the 4-H's that stand for heart, head, home and health — motto of the rural youth.

Two marching bands added zest to the performance as they marched in top form by the reviewing stand at city hall. The Appleton high school musicians broke into a sprightly march after a dramatic rat-a-tat flourish as they approached in review and then stepped out briskly, playing their instruments and looking very sharp in their new blue and gold uniforms. The brown and gold uniformed Hortonville High contingent swung by the stand in precise drill formation.

Safety King Ronald Schuster, Seymour, and Queen, Sandra Brownson, Shiocton, led off the parade with their car followed by carrying the four members of the family of William Tubbs, Seymour, the county's outstanding farmer of the year.

Attendants to the royalty for the day came next, Joseph Loh and Nancy Mossholder, both of rural Appleton.

The girl members of the B-Square club entry made a pretty sight in their bouffant gowns as they decorated the colorful, paper bedecked float that more than life-sized, headless had the catchy slogan, "don't figure of a farmer on the Sing-learn safety by accident." ing Pines float aptly explained the Log Cabin float depicted a group of praying people and a staircase "accident" in the home. A real wrecked car from an area junk yard illustrated the aftermath of highway accidents for the Spirit of the Valley group. Mosquito Hill club dramatized in charade its slogan, "Safety is in your hands," by having three of its members holding safety signs.

At the front of the float three girls stood in identical outfits white blouses and full swing skirts printed in the green 4-H leaf emblem.

Wide-Awake school also had an excellent float that carried out the theme of all-inclusive safety, depicting various phases of their theme on an ascending starway. At the top perched a member in the role of Miss Safety, seemingly in command of her subjects at the levels below.

Below to up-to-date world news and the future were the satellite floats of the Willing Workers and Busy Badgers clubs. The first showed a missile with the words "safety or bust" on it about to take off. The Busy Badgers blue and white float had two rocket girls, guiding a missile about to shoot the moon, depicting their club theme, "let safety be your destiny."

A school scene with old fashioned desks, blackboard, teacher and pupils learning the ABCs of safety was the theme of Nightingale 4-H club. Woodlawn clubmembers had a big arrow being shot by its bowsman into a target following the slogan, "aim for a better safety record." The Friendly Neighbors club was out to make a perfect record with its slogan centered on a huge black photograph and six notes of safety illustrating the theme along the sides of its float.

The secret of nine successful men!

A. A. Lange of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, is a member of the Civil Defense corps and participates in PTA and YMCA activities. He is also a member of a business group devoted to neighborhood improvement. He has had a Standard Oil dealership for 25 years.

THE nine men on this page are all successful businessmen. They are important men in their communities, important as consultants to one of America's biggest companies, important for the part they play in performing civic and community jobs for the benefit of all.

What is the secret of their success? Actually it's pretty simple. Their friendliness, helpfulness and efficiency have never been confined to business alone.

You will find them serving their communities in many ways—from membership on City Councils to active participation in youth work. They also serve 16,000 fellow businessmen, sharing their time and knowledge to help solve mutual problems.

Who are they? Strangely enough, they are all in the same business. And there are thousands more as friendly and efficient in the same business. They are all Standard Oil dealers!

These nine men are independent businessmen—not employees of Standard Oil. As members of the 1958 Standard Oil Dealer Advisory Council, they are available as consultants to officials of Standard Oil, giving advice and suggestions on how to further improve service to the motoring public. Nearly 100 suggestions by previous Dealer Councils, including the popular plan for guaranteed radiator protection, have been adopted by the company in the past five years.

Both on and off the job they are striving to serve their fellow citizens and business associates better. No wonder their friends and neighbors depend on them — and on the thousands of Standard Oil dealers just like them.

What makes a company a good citizen?

Citizenship has many obligations. But surely one of the most important for a big business is a high standard of conduct that will enable smaller businessmen to grow and prosper. At Standard, we are proud of the fact that thousands of our dealers are successful both in business and civic life.

Charles Foll of Chicago, Illinois, has worked on neighborhood improvement projects as a member of the Garfield Park Chamber of Commerce. He also has served on committees of the American Petroleum Institute. He has had a Standard dealership 28 years.

W. E. Cook of Kansas City, Missouri, has been a troop chairman. He is a leader in youth programs, such as boys' baseball and Sunday School work. He has had a Standard dealership 18 years.

A. V. Tisdell of Minneapolis, Minnesota, is a member of the Commercial Club, a business organization interested in neighborhood improvements. He has served four years on the Dealer Advisory Council and has had a Standard dealership 24 years.

Harry Hjortshol of Atlantic, Iowa, is a member of the Roads Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. He has been a volunteer fireman since 1910 and has worked on Red Cross (and drives). He has had a Standard Oil dealership for 20 years.

Blaine Walsh Started Radio Job in Green Bay

BY JINGO

WTMJ has sent along some background ballyhoo about Blaine Walsh, half of the voice of the Milwaukee Braves. It's fairly interesting material.

The 33-year-old Walsh is married, has two daughters and five sons, was born in Oconto and attended high school in Green Bay. He went from high school into 2 1/2 years army service, earning four battle stars in Europe as World War II closed.

Walsh entered radio work with Green Bay's WDUZ in 1947. After 1 1/2 years he moved to WJPG in Green Bay for a 4-year stint. You may have heard his play-by-play of Green Bay Bluejays' baseball games in the old Class D Wisconsin State league or his accounts of area high school contests.

Walsh joined WTMJ in 1952, started working Braves' games the next year when the team moved into Milwaukee and has been at it since. He also delivers the Packers' play-by-play in reason.

Blame Turnover On Cupid's Lure

New York — Romance is making the restaurant business rough for Harry Bloomfield.

The foe is the matrimonial allure for men guests of the Hawaiian wahinis (girls) who have been installed as the restaurant's hostesses.

Bloomfield's restaurant, the Luau 400, opened only recently, but three of the original seven girls have already departed for wedlock, two more are altar-bound, and another was kept on the job only after the harried host found her husband an assignment in the dining room.

"I never thought marriage would be one of my biggest operating problems," says Bloomfield.

"Gun" segments for this TV season. . . Walter Brennan's "The Real McCoys" will be back on ABC-TV next season. . . Warner Brothers is shooting "It's Room for One More," a new TV series that will star Peggy McCay and Richard Long as a couple who adopt children.

Eaton's charge that the U.S. is turning into a police state. He'll be on ABC-TV at 6:30. Eaton made his statement on the May 4 "Mike Wallace Show."

"How can I carry funds safely when I travel?"

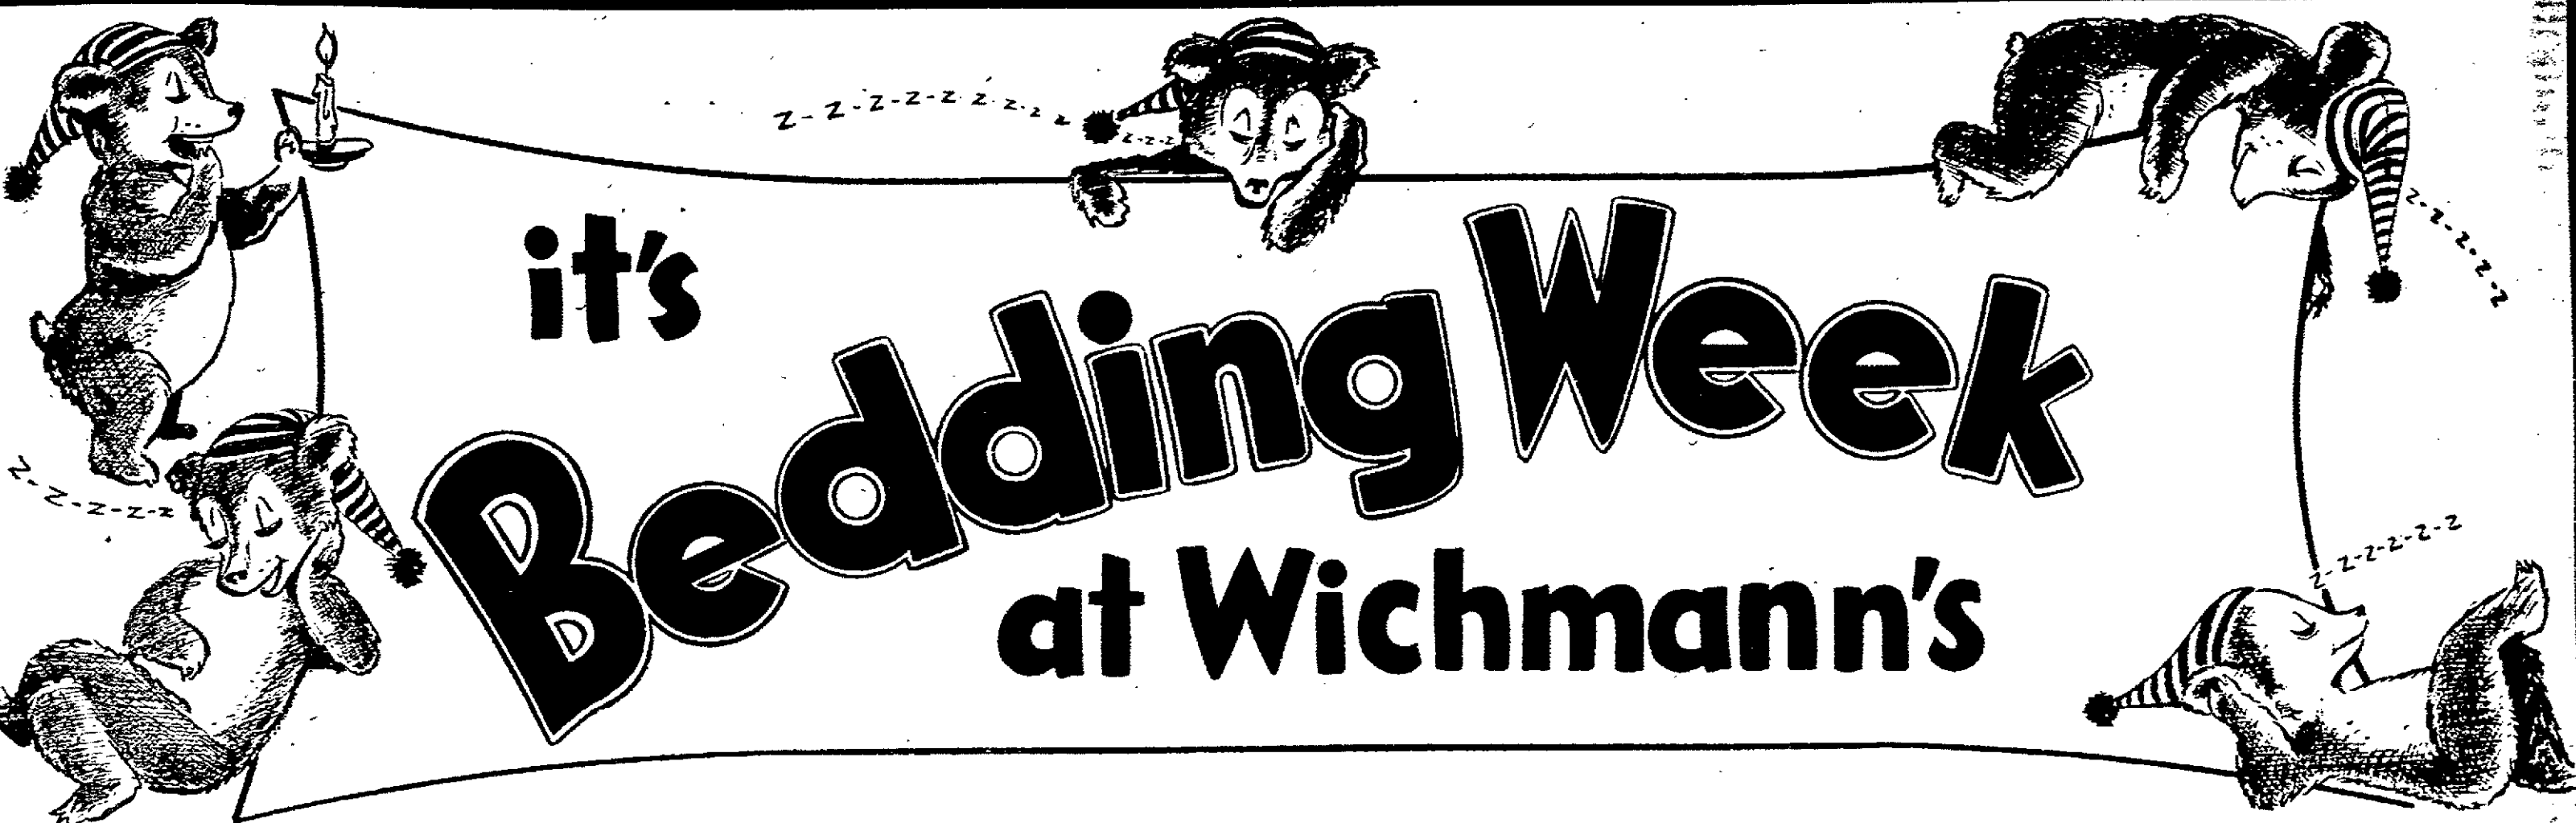

A wise traveler does not carry a sizable amount of currency. To do so is to risk its loss. The prudent alternative is to carry readily-accepted Travelers Checks, which you can buy at our bank, for a small fee, in convenient denominations. You countersign the checks as you want to use them — until they are countersigned, they cannot be cashed. And if you lose a check before countersigning it, the amount is refunded. Before you set off on any trip, be sure your travel funds are protected.

Indifference a Foe of Freedom, Speaker Warns

Elks Leader Praises Organization for Positive Programs

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Indifference will never guard our liberties as free people in a troubled world just as mere talk won't curb delinquency, Floyd Thompson, Chicago, past grand exalted ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, told his listeners Saturday night at the Wisconsin Elks association dinner in Appleton.

The speaker at the convention dinner honoring state past presidents praised Elksdom for its positive efforts in combating "isms" and delinquency. He pointed out that the Elks is primarily a service organization, referring to its scholarship and youth citizenship programs and its work to rehabilitate and aid crippled children.

"We are affirmatively trying to build Americanism," he stated, "and thereby protect the liberties of human freedom in our great country."

It requires more to be a strong citizen today than in former years, he said, comparing present day life in America with that of the pioneer.

Different Eras
"The freedom of driving an oxcart in Wisconsin 100 years ago is different from driving a fast motor car through traffic in modern times," he said. Another example was the comparison of business. In olden times the boss of a firm knew all his employees and they hung together in the same community. Today, in larger firms and corporations, even the employees don't know each other, he pointed out.

"We cannot be sure we are going to have a nation of free men unless we are watchful, unless we protect our liberties," he declared. To carry by a "name" band, the turnout was disappointing.

Most of the 500 or so listeners were students from the college, causing one to wonder if as long as we have a naive love for top-flight commercial entertainment has died in the Fox Cities.

this nation forward we must prepare our young people to govern our country in the route of freedom, the right patch, or we shall decay, he added.

Thompson believes that Elksdom is important in this area, beyond the social and fellowship activities of the organization, because through its service work it is helping to strengthen the nation and preserve its liberties.

He pointed out the need for standing on one's own feet. It's all right to aid others in the world and to extend them our hand of fellowship, but we can't make them free people, he said. That they must do for themselves. The most we can do is to break their shackles, or "destroy the men who have put their feet on their necks."

"Let someone else do our thinking," he warned, "and soon that someone will be the boss and soon we will have no freedom at all."

"The world will be protected as long as we have a naive love for top-flight commercial entertainment has died in the Fox Cities."

The awards for youth work activities were announced for the first time at the dinner held in connection with the 3-day convention in Appleton of the Wisconsin Elks association. The Twin Cities group was the winner in the 500 to 1,000 membership division. Two Rivers Elks won the award in the under 500 membership class.

Milwaukee lodge No. 46 received for the second year in a row the youth activities trophy for the best overall program in the state. Its previous year's activities took top national honors. ## Scobey Fills Chapel With Rousing Jazz

BY DAVID APKER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Strains of rousing jazz music — San Francisco variety, done by Bob Scobey and his band — echoed from walls of Lawrence college Memorial chapel Friday night as a small but enthusiastic crowd roared its approval.

Scobey and his musicians stuck with the old standbys, playing them with a touch of sophistication to set them apart from a New Orleans type of rendition.

"Muskat Ramble," "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "Gettin' Bill Bailey Home," and "Sweet Georgia Brown" set feet tapping and hands clapping throughout the hall.

Clancy Hayes, one of the country's greatest jazz singers, made a hit with "Ace in the Hole," and other old favorites. His fancy finger work on the banjo was a pleasure to hear.

Scobey, The Master Miss Toni Lee Scott did a capable job singing everything from "I Got Rhythm" and "Runnin' Wild" to the haunting "St. Louis Blues" and sentimental "After You've Gone."

Dave Black's work on the drums was outstanding. His solo of an offbeat musical something called "Whale" put the audience in the palm of his hand. The bespectacled drummer had his listeners alternate shouting at the top of their lungs or listening in rapt silence as he slowed the pace to a catchy beat.

Scobey showed complete mastery of his golden horn. Despite an outstanding show

Fox Cities Leaders View World Affairs

Convene at Elkhart Lake in Unique Citizens Seminar on Foreign Policy

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Elkhart Lake — Twenty-five business and professional leaders of the Fox Cities spent the weekend here in intensive study of the problems of their country in dealing with a divided and difficult world.

In a unique citizens seminar on foreign policy, the group met with experts and technicians of the United States department of state in an informal and frank discussion of the foreign challenges of the country, with major emphasis upon the operation and strengthening of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

For most of the men and women — ranging from teachers to lawyers and businessmen and housewives — the sessions involved more intensive study than they have experienced since they studied world politics more academically during their college days.

The representatives of the government agencies were generous in their explanations of the problems America faces in an uncertain world, but cautious also and patient with the sometimes impulsive assertions and questions of the citizen amateurs.

The seminar was held in an atmosphere conducive to leisurely talk and reflection—in a big old summer resort which had no other guests during the weekend.

A part of the cost of the venture first of its kind in Wisconsin, was underwritten by leading business firms of the Fox Cities.

The bureau of government of the University of Wisconsin, Lawrence college and the University of Chicago co-operated by dispatching staff members to the session.

The participants were Lt. Gen. Clovis F. Byrnes of the United States army, a professional soldier who commanded a division in World War II and has had a rich experience in foreign relations at critical posts around the world.

Maynard Barnes, once an ambassador, was sent by the Brookings institution as a consultant. Robert A. Feary, a NATO specialist, represented the department of state.

The political and military problems of NATO, the shield of western Europe, occupied most of the seminar discussions.

The "students" also explored at length the alternative courses available to the United States in maintaining its defenses against the growing might of the Soviet Union.

To Your Good Health

Irrigation of Ear to Remove Wax Must be Done With Care

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I would like your opinion on irrigation of the ears for repeated collections of wax, and if there isn't some home remedy. — A. R."

Two positive words of warning before we go on.

First, don't attempt to irrigate an ear if there has been any previous ear infection with resultant perforation of the ear drum.

Second, if the wax is impacted (hardened, and completely closing the ear canal somewhere inside) don't try it, either, because most important, you won't be able to get it cleaned out by any means that would be half-way safe, even.

However, moderate accumulation of wax which is not impacted, can be removed safely from ears that are healthy and have intact ear drums. Irrigation with warm soda solution will do no harm and will rinse the wax out (One teaspoon to a glass of water.)

Syringe Handy

A simple ordinary ear syringe is the handiest thing to use, squirting the soda solution into the ear and letting it run out freely. Do not, of course, jam the tip of the syringe into the ear, so that you create pressure inside. The pressure won't help but it could do considerable harm. In short, you use the syringe not to build up pressure, but merely to squirt hard enough to get the soda solution into the ear. Let the rinsing action do the work.

There's considerable difference between people as to the rate at which wax forms. If wax happens to accumulate rapidly, it is desirable to clear it with periodic rinsing.

Toothpicks, hairpins, long fingernails and other such weapons should never be used. They won't work as well as rinsing.

beginning against trying to do anything yourself if you have a perforated eardrum is that infection is so likely to result.

In that case, or in the case of impacted wax, have your doctor do it. He has the instruments and the know-how, plus being able to see what he is doing.

It's fun to drive an engine that's clean. And mile after mile—just by driving—Keotane gets your engine cleaner, cleaner, cleaner.

Yes, Just By Driving with Skelly, You Can

Drive Your Engine Clean

Dirty deposits in your engine rob you of mileage. You can get 12.7% more miles per gallon when you drive an engine that's Keotane-Clean!

WHATEVER your reason for driving — business or pleasure — you can clean your engine at the same time without doing anything but just driving as you normally do.

Keotane in Skelly Supreme Gasoline does this cleaning work for you — and at no extra cost.

Because Keotane dissolves gluey gum in your engine, Keotane frees dirty carbon and lead deposits to blow harmlessly out the exhaust. That's how you drive your engine clean with Keotane.

As soon as your engine is Keotane-Clean you'll get an average of 12.7% more mileage... 14.6% more horsepower output... the performance effect of 3.1 extra octane points.

See chart at right for details on how these extra values of a Keotane-Clean engine are worth over 6c per gallon. And remember, you pay nothing extra for Keotane in Skelly Supreme Gasoline.

Don't let dirty engine deposits rob you of mileage and performance. Enjoy the pleasures of an engine that's Keotane-Clean: a lively, peppy engine that drives more like a new engine.

Prove to yourself how much extra mileage you get. Ask your Skellyman for a free Skelly Mileage Meter. It shows your mileage gain with a Keotane-Clean engine.

Estimated Extra Value Per Gallon To You, Of Skelly Supreme Gasoline With Keotane:

(Based on average current premium gasoline prices in the Midwest)

12.7% average gain in mileage..... 3.3c
3 octane points extra performance effect..... 1.0c
14.6% more horsepower output (b.p. saved or added)..... .5c
Less gum and cleaner carburetors faster starts with fewer sputters, longer life for batteries .5c

Estimated extra value per gallon to you. 6.1c

The extra values shown above are conservative estimates by our engineers. These extra values are not figured against inferior premium gasolines or regular grade gasolines, but against Skelly Supreme Gasoline, the best top-octane premium gasoline previously made.

Only Skelly Supreme Gasoline Gives You 6.1c Extra Value

Per Gallon with Keotane

(Registered U. S. Patent Office)

6.1c makes other premium gasoline expensive to use;
6.1c makes any regular gasoline expensive to use;
6.1c makes any "cut rate" gasoline expensive to use.

Decries Lack of Grammar Study In High School

Teacher Says Typical College Freshman
Poor in English

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — A state college English teacher says he is distressed by the inadequacies in grammar training of the typical freshman enrolling at his institution in recent times.

John A. Heide, of the Wisconsin state college at Whitewater, described today in an essay in the journal of the Wisconsin Education association what he said are the deficiencies of high school graduates entering college, with respect to the quality of English instruction.

He said freshman classes of the last three years at his school, the overwhelming majority of them products of Wisconsin preparatory schools, compared poorly in achievement with the competence of typical high school graduates entering college in the country as a whole.

Superior Attainment
The Heide article followed an earlier report by Prof. Robert Pooley about the superior attainment of students enrolling in the Integrated Liberal Arts studies course at the University of Wisconsin, which Dr. Pooley has directed.

Heide said the Pooley report must be disturbing to teachers who have had the experience of the instructors in the Whitewater college.

"Even if one grants that bulging college enrollments include many students who should not be attending college, the 1957 figures do not speak well for the quality of English instruction in Wisconsin high schools," the Whitewater teacher said.

"To try to teach composition on the college level to classes of whose members 43 percent are woefully deficient in the mechanics of expression is virtually an impossibility."

Baghdad Wins Stature as Arab Capital

BY WILTON WYNN

Baghdad, Iraq — U— This steaming hot city on the Tigris is assuming an importance it has not known since the Thousand and One Nights.

With completion of formalities implementing the merger of Iraq and Jordan in the Arab union, Baghdad officially becomes the capital of a new nation stretching from the Zabbos mountains near the Soviet frontier to the Gulf of Aqaba and the Israeli armistice line.

This still is a far cry from the domains ruled by the fabulous caliphs of Baghdad during the Golden Age of Islam, and empire that spread from the borders of India to Morocco's Atlas mountains. Even so, the Arab federation represents a big step forward in the revival of Baghdad after four centuries of oblivion under foreign rule.

City Booming
Baghdad is quiet politically but booming economically. Stimulated largely by huge oil incomes, Baghdad has been transformed in seven years from a 19th century Turkish town into a 20th century city with a population crowding the million mark.

Baghdad died in the 13th century when the Mongol conqueror Hulagu Khan devastated the city and trampled the last caliph to death under his horse's hoofs. Baghdad became a forgotten town of the Ottoman Turkish empire and remained so till after World War I, when it became the capital of independent Iraq.

But for three more decades Baghdad remained the ugliest and most uncomfortable of Arab capitals. Its one thoroughfare, the nostalgically named Harun el Rashid street, too narrow for modern traffic, was flanked by dingy shops.

Oil money has brought broad new boulevards and avenues plunging through former slums. New bridges span the Tigris. New hotels welcome visitors. Flashy American cars are crowding broken down joleros and horse-drawn carriages from the streets.

'Gentlemanly' Brawl Isn't Best Way to Avoid Advances to Girl

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I tried to be a gentleman last night and I've lost my girl because of it. Please help me.

We were having dinner in a small cabaret. Some guys at the bar were eyeing my girl and making smart cracks loud enough Ann Landers for us to hear. One of the fellows who was pretty stiff finally came over to our table and said to her, "Don't I know you from somewhere?" (This was just an opener. He never saw her before in his life.)

I'd just about had it by that time, so I got up like a gentleman, and hit the drunken bum right in the nose. He fell on the next table and broke a few dishes, which I later paid for.

The manager came over and asked US to leave—not the guy who insulted my girl, you understand, just US. Now she's mad, says I'm a rough-neck and wants nothing to do with me. Don't you think they should have thrown the masher out? Is this justice?—B.W.J.

Sorry, Buster, you'll get no help from me. You had no right to hit this man in the profile. This is assault and battery and there are laws against it. You should have called the manager and asked him to remove the pest from the premises.

Brawling can be dangerous. You never know how badly you may injure someone, or to what extent you yourself may be disabled. Some guys may look drunk—but they fight sober.

You were wrong, and the best thing to do is admit it. Get on your knees and promise never again—and good luck.

DEAR ANN: My husband bought a set of rings for a girl before I came into his life. This gold-digger left the country unexpectedly, and took the rings with her. (Natch.) There is a balance of $367 due on the rings.

My husband and I file joint returns on our income. We will get a refund of $350 this year. Should I give him my share of the refund so he can get the rings paid off? Some people think I should let him sweat out the payments by himself and that I should buy something nice with my share of the money. What do you think?—SUN-XY

What do you mean "some people"? Have you been taking a survey?

My advice is to give your husband both ends of the refund so he can get those pesky rings paid off and out of your lives. Marriage is supposed to be a partnership, Toots. This means splitting the losses as well as the profits. Don't start mining and thieving or you may unlock a Pandora's box which could haunt you for the rest of your days.

Be a good sport and he'll think you're the World's Number One Number Two girl.

DEAR ANN: I never thought I'd be writing too, but then that's what everyone says. The false accusations by wives who think their husbands are making time with their secretaries has worked my blood-pressure up.

If these wives knew what their husbands' secretaries REALLY thought of them they wouldn't worry so much.

I'm qualified to speak on this subject because I've been employed as a secretary for over 10 years by three excellent firms. Never once has a boss of mine made a move that was out of the way. And no woman in any of the offices where I've been employed has had this problem, to my knowledge.

It's my firm belief that if more women would get out into the business world after graduating instead of rushing to get married, they'd learn first-hand what happens in offices. Then perhaps they wouldn't be so quick to buy that cheap soap-opera line. Be-

Pair Marks Fiftieth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Eulrich, 30 W. First street, Clintonville, observed their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday with an open house during the afternoon and evening. A buffet supper was served for the family and relatives.

The couple was married on May 20, 1908, in Center, Outagamie county. They resided on a farm in the town of Nekimi until 1919, when they moved to a farm in the town of Mattoon, Waupaca county. In 1939, they moved to Clintonville, where they have lived ever since.

Mr. and Mrs. Eulrich have four children, 15 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren. Their children are Mrs. E. W. Kussman and Warren Eulrich, both of Oshkosh; Loyd Eulrich, Clintonville, and Harold Eulrich, Melrose Park, Ill. They also had a daughter, Mrs. Emil Ahrens, who died in 1938.

Two hundred people attended the open house.

lieve me, an office is the most unromantic place in the world.

JUST MISS SMITH

Dear Miss Smith: Thank you for your point of view. The horse is neither all white, nor all black... it's a dapple grey. Statistics do not support your statement that "an office is the most unromantic place in the world." Marriages may be made in heaven, but a good many of the earthly contacts are made right down here in offices.

West, despite the spade bid at his right, opened the king of that suit, but even though South played the six-spot, holding out the deuce to make West think that East's five might have been a come-on. West was too sharp—he shifted to the three of diamonds.

Declarer put up the diamond queen in dummy, and gave due notice to East's play of the six, a cautiously-encouraging card for West's benefit.

It was quite apparent to declarer that for all the high cards in the North-South hands, he was going to have a tough time of it, bringing home nine tricks, largely because his own son, Waupaca county. In 1939, they moved to Clintonville, where they have lived ever since.

Civic League Officers For 1958 Take Office

Mrs. Sam Bond, newly elected president of the Civic league of Welcome Wagon, took office in a recent installation ceremony at the Appleton Elks club. Others taking chairs for 1958 with Mrs. Bond were Mrs. Harold Donnelly, first vice president; Mrs. Harold Carlson, second vice president; Mrs. Clifford Washburn, secretary and Mrs. John Donohue, treasurer.

The installation was held in conjunction with a 1 o'clock luncheon. Appearing on the afternoon program were the Harmonettes, who presented several vocal selections, and Judy Goehler, who gave a humorous reading.

Reservations were handled by Mrs. Fred Mathews and Mrs. Eugene Kleinschmidt and Mrs. Clifford Washburn was in charge of decorations.

Members of Deborah Rebekah lodge will gather for a regular meeting at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Odd Fellows hall. A 6 o'clock potluck supper will precede the session.

At an earlier meeting, the left-hand opponent was the wily sort, and so he (South) did try to drop the ten of diamonds. Instead, after winning the diamond trick, he cashed the ace and queen of hearts and threw East in with the last heart. If East had another spade to return, that would be just too bad—the hand could not be made.

East, however, had no spade; he led a low club. Dummy's ace smothered West's queen. His jack went to West's king, and West simply exited with the diamond jack. It was this and declarer led the club four. Sequence of diamond leads by from dummy. East, to avoid a club throw-in play, put up the king and exited with his last on the diamond by Miss Aubrey Radtke.

Serving on the committee are Mrs. and Mrs. Harold Schumacher, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Melchert, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pahl, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Reetz.

Students in Song Fest

Four Appleton girls who attend Wisconsin State college, Oshkosh, and are members of the Lambda Chi sorority, participated in the annual intra-sorority song fest held Friday and Saturday evenings on the Oshkosh campus. Of the eight groups competing, Lambda Chi received the first place trophy.

Directing the Lambda Chi selection, "The Halls of Ivy," was Miss Donna Blankenburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.H. Blankenburg, 1033 W. Oshkosh street. Other local students who sang were Miss Mona Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Olson, 1634 N. Nicholas street, Miss Rita Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Weber, 415 S. ## Goodby Gift Turns Out Premature

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: We are a group of women belonging to a bridge club. The husband of one of our members was being transferred from here to another city and we, as a group, gave her a going away present. The husband preceded the family to the new location and after looking it over decided he did not like it well enough to stay. He has since come back to this city where the family will stay. Would it be proper for her to keep the gift or should she return it to the club members?

Answer: She should ask you if you wish her to return the gift, and then if you tell her to keep it she can show her appreciation by giving some sort of a party for all of you.

Ask Destination Dear Mrs. Post: When a boy calls me up and asks me for a date, is it proper to ask him where we are going? I like to know beforehand so that I can dress accordingly. Two weeks ago a boy asked me for a date, but didn't say where we were going. I got all dressed up and when he came to the house to pick me up he told me that he had two tickets for a basketball game. There was no time to change my dress so I went as I was. I felt very much out of place as everyone else was in sports clothes.

Answer: If the boy does not tell you where you are going you certainly have every right to ask him before you accept his invitation.

Who Signs Register? Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know just who is supposed to sign the register at a funeral home. I have been told that close relatives do not sign it. Is this right? I thought that everyone who came to the funeral home signed the register—close relatives as well as friends and acquaintances. Will you please clear this up?

Answer: The immediate family would not sign but other relatives as well as friends and acquaintances should to show that they came to the funeral home.

Beauty Use of Color Has Beneficial Effect

By Marian Matthews

Do you have any color in your life—that is, your wardrobe and surroundings?

Recently, one of our leading designers charged American women with a lack of color in their clothes and a general trend to overconservatism. Perhaps this is why we have so much color offered us today—from head to toe there's a more lively tone.

Color has a beneficial effect on the human mechanism. We all know the lift a field of flowers or a glorious sunset can give us and seldom do we remember some of this same excitement is available to all of us in more colorful clothing and living quarters. Learn what colors make you feel your best, look your best and behave well.

To make color work for you, don't hesitate to try something a little different. Perhaps combining two or three colors instead of settling for just one—a sure way to cope with ultraconservatism!

Color makes for flattery, too. Surely the red dress livens up your complexion more than a blue, where we are going? I like to know beforehand so that I can dress accordingly. Two weeks ago a boy asked me for a date, but didn't say where we were going. I got all dressed up and when he came to the house to pick me up he told me that he had two tickets for a basketball game. There was no time to change my dress so I went as I was. I felt very much out of place as everyone else was in sports clothes.

Six Calumet Officials Take Election Papers

Roland Miller Only Democratic Candidate To Announce So Far

Chilton — Six Calumet county officials have announced they will be candidates for reelection by securing nomination papers from the office of the county clerk.

Roland E. Miller, who is completing his 20th year in office, will seek his 11th term as Calumet county clerk on the Democratic ticket. To date, Miller is the only Democrat who has announced his candidacy.

In the 1956 election Miller was the only Democrat in the county to be elected. He is president of the Wisconsin County Clerk's association.

Math Nilles, Jr., will seek his tenth term as a Republican candidate for the office of clerk of circuit court. Nilles is now completing 18 years in office.

Sheriff Announces
Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky will seek his fourth term of office on the Republican ballot. Kosmosky was elected sheriff in 1950 and reelected in 1952. Unable to succeed himself to a third term, he was not a candidate in 1954.

Mrs. Lucile Kosmosky, his wife, won the Republican nomination for the sheriff's office in 1954. She served one term. Kosmosky was elected in 1956.

Franklin J. Schmieder has announced he will be a candidate for his fourth full term as district attorney on the Republican slate. Schmieder served as district attorney from 1942 until 1946. In 1956 he received a governor's appointment to fill the unexpired term of D. H. Sebor who took office as Calumet county judge. Schmieder was elected again in 1956.

Schmieder is chairman of the Calumet county Republican party.

Merlin Zahn, county treasurer, will seek his second full term of office as a Republican. Zahn was appointed to the treasurer's post in 1956 when Wilbur R. Winch retired. He then won election for a full term.

Seeks Full Term
Leo Kartheiser, register of deeds, will be a candidate for his first full term on the Republican ballot. Kartheiser received a governor's appointment to the office in 1957 when Norbert G. Propson resigned. Although he has served as register of deeds for more than a year this will be Kartheiser's first election.

Henry M. Peters, member of assembly, announced last week he would again be a candidate for that office.

Democrats in Calumet county need a minimum of 50 signatures, not to exceed 100, on their nomination papers. Republican candidates must file thousands of extra classrooms not needed to cut down class size will not be forthcoming unless we have a strong school construction drive.

'Air Transports at European Bases

Frankfurt, Germany — Eighteen huge U.S. Air Force Globemaster transports today had arrived at various bases in Germany and France for possible use in the troubled Middle East.

The Globemasters were ordered to West Germany by the U.S. government Saturday, possibly to evacuate Americans from Lebanon or to ferry arms to that strife-torn nation.

The exact whereabouts of the giant three-decker C124s was an air force secret. At least five of them landed at Frankfurt's Rhine-Main airport last night then left this morning for other bases in Europe.

There have been no orders yet for them to fly to Lebanon, an air force spokesman said.

A roommate told police Miss Jorgensen had checked out of her dormitory at 5 15 Saturday afternoon. When she got to Menasha, she was met by her sister, Jean, who was with her until 9 or 10 o'clock in the evening.

After 10 o'clock she was seen in two Menasha bowling alleys and about 1 o'clock Sunday morning a girl friend saw her walking alone south on Tayco street carrying two school books and her purse.

Acquaintances saw her in the bowling alleys said she had on one or two drinks. Police theorized she might have caught her skirt or shoe in a switch at the end of the bridge and stumbled when the train approached.

Used Bridge
Miss Jorgensen's mother said Mary Lou often walked across the bridge and the Chicago and North Western's long bridge to get home. The Jorgensens live on a farm off Highway 41.

She was concluding her junior year and was majoring in psychology at the university. She also attended the university's Menasha extension during the second semester of the 1955-56 term.

She was born March 19, 1936 at Neenan.

Dr. G. A. Steele, Winnebago county coroner, said he would have nothing more to report until Menasha police end an investigation. With Dr. Steele at the autopsy were Sheriff Charles Lowry and Dist. Atty. Jack Steinhilber.

the Y says nothing about Christianity."

Dr. Nelson also asked that the division between laymen and professional workers be narrowed, contending the two are first and foremost members of the Y.

The social and economic setting in which the institution operates was the subject of Dr. Dan W. Dodson, director of the Center for Human Relations and Community Studies at New York university.

Lecturing Sunday night, Dodson asserted that with the prolongation, an increasingly mobile population and the increase of metropolitan areas, there has become a return to the church but "little indication of a return to the Lord. The church is becoming a segregative agency—a sanctuary from life rather than a gateway to life. The religion of 'the American way' may become the ideological underpinning of totalitarianism."

Stratification of Life
He noted that there has been a greater stratification of life in America since World War II than in any comparable decade in this country's history and contended people's tremendous preoccupation with things has contributed to the loss of leadership in the realm of ideas.

"Young people today have been characterized as outer directed as against inner directed, gloriously contented conformists and organization people. Privilege has corrupted our society today."

To combat this, Dodson asked Y's to meet the interests of new groups moving into cities, to meet the challenges to human dignity in the increasing stratification of society, to discover dignity and release creativity when the bureaucratic trend of society is in the other direction, and to help young people study this country's religious heritage and develop true spiritual values.

Saturday evening's speaker was Dr. Alan F. Klein, professor of social group work at the University of Pittsburgh, who attempted to delineate between the social and educational work of YMCA's.

Behavior Wanted
He stated Y's first must set forth the kind of behavior they want from young people, then begin offering programs which would produce this behavior.

He, like Dr. Nelson, said young people today need guide lines and models to direct them toward their ultimate goals in society.

By the end of the conference Thursday, delegates hope to recommend modifications in philosophy, organization and program enabling the Y to continue to meet the changing needs of youth.

The Law and You

Inconsistent Pleading Not Possible in Today's Courts

The law tells of an old English case in which the plaintiff claimed the defendant had borrowed his kettle and had returned it with a crack in it. By way of defense, the defendant replied. (a) the kettle was not cracked when he returned it. (b) the kettle was already strengthened while goals were delineated.

Attending from Appleton were Mrs. T. E. Orison, Mrs. J. R. Whitman, Jr., Mrs. Louis Vanevenhoven, Mrs. Karel Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ottman, Hans Hartwig. Andrew Blackburn, Sam Hyatt, Miss Florence Arbutnot, women's and girls' director, and Carl Bruno, youth director.

Both parties are called upon to admit facts they know to be true even though they may be damaging to their case. This avoids considerable expense and saves time at the trial for both parties.

Presbyterian Church Entered, $50 Stolen

K-C Watchman Notices Man Throwing
Opened Collection Envelopes to Ground

Neenah — An unidentified man, about 50 years old, is suspected of having stolen $50 to $55 from the Presbyterian church shortly before 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Two Oshkosh churches reported burglaries Friday night and Sunday morning.

The man was observed by a watchman at Kimberly-Clark's research and development office as he was walking along the railroad tracks behind the company's plant, sorting papers in his hand and discarding certain pieces.

The watchman examined the waste paper and found it included collection envelopes from the church.

The thief apparently knew where the money was located, since only one drawer, that containing the funds, was forced open. Police believe a screw driver was used to open the drawer.

Wallets of six choir members at Peace Lutheran church at Oshkosh were taken from the choir dressing room Sunday morning while the choir was singing. A total of $26.15 was taken.

Sometime Friday night some one broke into St. John's English Lutheran church at Oshkosh and stole a watch from the pastor's desk and also broke into several other offices in the church.

He was fined $50 for driving without a license and $10 for speeding. Court costs brought the total fine to $67.65. He was arrested by Neenah police at 2:05 this morning after police observed him speeding 38 miles per hour on N. Commercial street between North Water street and Wisconsin avenue.

Schommer was convicted of drunken driving a year ago and of driving after his license was revoked last July. He will not be eligible for another license until a year from today.

The 2-day jail sentence is mandatory under state law for driving after the license has been revoked.

Help Yourselves, ADA Chief Tells Dairymen

Lyman McKee Lists
4-Point Plan for Aiding Industry

BY KIT CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fond du Lac — A 4-point self help plan was outlined for state dairymen Saturday by Lyman D. McKee, Madison dairy farmer and president of the American Dairy association, here Saturday.

McKee spoke at the dinner ending this city's 3-day dairy promotion and the Region 6 Alice in Dairyland contest.

"Americans no longer buy what they like," McKee said. "but buy from whom they like." On this premise he urged dairymen to make themselves better known and liked by the consumers.

His program would include more extensive advertising, merchandising, public relations and research.

He likened advertising to a hammer. "One or two strokes of a hammer won't build a garage, nor will one or two advertisements keep selling milk." He urged people selling dairy products to use all media in repeating the need for milk all over the country.

"Give the story of dairying to people in New York and Detroit and Los Angeles, as well as your next door neighbors," McKee told the group.

Take Advantage of Ads — Merchandising was compared to a wrench, which would and should take advantage of the inroads in Menasha last week. H. O. Haugh, city health officer, said noted that 70 per cent of the today.

supermarket shoppers buy without a shopping list, expecting to be reminded at the point of sale.

Such point of sale displays and special presentations cannot help but sell more dairy products, he pointed out.

Public relations programs will help bring the consumer and the producer closer together, McKee said, saving down the obstacles between the two. In this field, he noted, the Alice in Dairyland promotion is highly effective.

Show Job Farms Do — He urged the farmers to show the consumers, many of whom have never been on a farm, that farms are trying to do as good a job as possible of supplying needed products of superior quality.

His fourth point, research, was compared to a drill which would discover what motivates purchasers to buy one brand or product more than another.

McKee also asked for more study of dairy products themselves, to learn of the other uses besides those now familiar.

The results of such a self help program, he said, would be much more permanent than the benefits wrought by a legislature or congress, and would be the marks of an alert aggressive industry.

McKee told the group.

Lesson in English

Words often misused: Do not say, "I wish you would let me alone." Say, "I wish you would LEAVE me alone."

Synonyms: Innocence, goodness, guiltlessness, harmlessness, purity, simplicity, sincerity, virtue.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: exigency; urgency; necessity; need. (Accent first syllable, not the second in the middle of the 19th century. "The present exigency might have been averted, had we been more provident.")

2,000 REASONS WHY

Should we ever be required to prove our interest in community health, we could cite 2,000 good reasons. Our prescription department stocks upwards of 2,000 medicinal ingredients. They come from every point of the compass. Some are prescribed daily, others only rarely.

These drugs are brought together in our prescription department to help us render competent professional service for the protection of your health.

Running with one cylinder on the blink, the 1958-model Appleton High school track team finished fourth in Saturday's Fox River Valley conference meet on the AHS track.

Green Bay West—which had been co-favored with the defending champion Terrors—captured the meet title, for the fifth time in the last six years.

The Terrors were forced to compete without school record-holding half miler John Cotton, Cotton who won one section of the 880 and anchored the second place 880 relay team in last year's meet, was kept out of action by a lame tendon in his left foot.

Pain Too Great
The senior co-captain dressed for action and had his foot taped, preparatory to running but the pain of the injury was too great. After being on crutches all week to rest the injured member, Cotton had given the foot a test Friday afternoon and the pain, then, was severe.

His status for Friday evening was uncertain.

Horvatin Hurls 6-Hit Win for A's

BY MIKE DREW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Fox Cities Foxes, locked in the throes of a 5-game losing streak, take on Rochester here tonight with at least one new face in the lineup.

Hard-hitting third baseman Carlos Pascual joined the club Sunday from Charlotte of the Class A Sally league and will probably play tonight. Shortstop Don Dantonie, also carrying a reputation as a good hitter, is expected to report from Charlotte tonight.

The Foxes could have used hitting but they also were in dire need of pitching in Sunday afternoon's 12-1 thumping at Rochester, which has had hitting woes of its own on occasion this season, teed off on three Fox Cities pitchers for 18 hits and received six walks Sunday as 1,206 fans — the largest home crowd of the season since opening night — groaned.

On the other side of the scorecard, the Foxes were able to generate just six hits off Stan Horvatin, and their only run came home on a wild pitch. The Foxes, who can't be as bad as they've looked, of late, have now scored just three runs in their last 40 innings.

Tonight, Rochester Manager Burl Storie plans to start 345,000 bonus lefthander Dave Hill, who spent last season on the Kansas City Athletics' bench. Fox Cities Manager Pete Suder will counter with righthander Bill Felker, who owns a 0-1 mark. The game is a Ladies' night affair.

Hill joined Rochester Saturday after a brief stint with Albany.

Lawrence College's Tad Pinkerton is shown above hitting the finish line first in the Midwest conference mile run Saturday at Whiting field. ### Table of Points

Cornell	471	Monmouth	22

LAWRENCE	27	Knox	16
Carleton	27	Coe	2
Grinnell	26

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Barring the appearance of a brigade of super sophomore performers, the Midwest conference in 1959 could easily come up with an unparalleled number of repeating track and field champions.

Sophs and juniors elbowed seniors to the background Saturday by winning 11 of the 14 individual events in the record-spangled conference track meet at Lawrence's Whiting field. And, practically all of the wins were of a decisive nature.

Lawrence's John Winsor (in the discus event), Monmouth's Dean Fischer (broad jump) and Carleton's Rod Napier (440) were the only seniors to achieve titular distinction in the meet which saw Cornell en-core as team champion.

Vikes Share Third

Second to Cornell's total of 471 points was St. Olaf with 331. The host Vikings came in as a surprise co-third place finisher. Lawrence and Carleton each carded 27 points. The Vikes gained four notches over their 1957 finish.

The nine schools sandwiched all of the track events between a couple of brief but heavy rains. The first downpour played havoc with some of the early field events and created puddles on the two inside lanes of the oval. Except for the distance runners (who were unable to stick to the time-saving "rail" all the way around the track) the athletes found the conditions no handicap.

In fact, two conference records were shattered, five field records were broken and another field mark tied.

Lawrence, Carleton, Ripon and Cornell earned four first places apiece.

Winsor, muscular Vike captain, took his second straight league discus title with a launching of 136 feet, 34 inches.

Dave Mulford, sterling Vike junior, traded his 1957 fourth-place award for the first place medal in the 880-yard run. The Rockford Rocket won handily in 1 minute, 57.6 seconds — an excellent effort though not quite up to his record jaunt of 1:56.8 under better conditions in Friday's qualifying test.

Tad Pinkerton, tireless sophomore whiz from Waupaca, stuffed the conference mile title into his already bulging bag of honors "Pinks" negotiated the four laps in the fifty time of 4:25.7 and won by more than 15 yards.

Lawrence sophomore Ron Simon of Appleton made a gallant bid to duplicate Pinkerton's feat of pocketing a title

Schools Using New Method of Registration

Hope to Complete Enrollments by End Of Current Semester

A new method of registering students in Appleton public elementary schools is being attempted this year. Instead of enrolling youngsters before school starts in fall, it is being done now so complete lists are available before the end of the school year.

According to Miss Viola Pelzer, chairman of the committee handling registrations, packets of material were sent home with each school child today and should be returned by Wednesday. The envelopes contain enrollment cards, book lists, letters explaining the procedure, bus routes and other pertinent material.

In former years, all children were registered during teacher orientation week in late August or early September. This year's experiment proves successful, it will be continued, Miss Pelzer said. She noted many school systems already are using this procedure.

It was felt a more complete registration could be accomplished in this manner and classroom arrangements could be made further in advance.

Registrations for kindergarten youngsters entering school for the first time in September were taken last month.

Registrations Still Open for Swim Sessions

About 400 registrations have been received for the Outagamie county Red Cross chapter's annual rural learn-to-swim program. Enrollments still are being taken, according to Miss Kathryn Osborn, executive secretary.

Lessons will be offered beginning in June at Erb park pool and the Kaukauna pool. There is no charge for the lessons. Miss Osborn said, but each pool charges a $1 fee. Fees are to be paid at the pool when youngsters report for their first lesson.

Participants will be notified of the time of their lessons at a later date. Each child will receive two lessons per week.

Convention Cites Jaycee President

William Selle, president of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce, was cited as outstanding local president of Wisconsin Jaycee Division 3 at the organization's annual convention in Wausau over the weekend.

New state officers are George Piper, Eau Claire, president; and Gerald Gertschen, Wausau, and Fred Morcott, Madison, Fred Warneke, Berlin, and David S.

Eggert Elected Head of State Welfare Unit

Alfred R. Eggert, Outagamie county relief and welfare department director, was elected president of the Wisconsin Public Welfare association at the organization's annual conference in Madison.

Eggert was elected at the convention's final session Friday.

Frank Fieschko, Green Bay, supervisor of the district including Outagamie county, was named member-at-large.

Outagamie county representatives at the conference were Eggert, Richard De Lapp, Richard Schucart and Ray Kaske.

Also attending were William H. Kilsdonk, town of Buchanan, J. W. Weyenberg, Kaukauna, E. F. Tellock, Greenville, and Daniel J. Williams, Combined Locks, all members of the board of public welfare.

Seek More Entries For Annual Flag Day Parade on June 14

The Flag Day parade committee urgently needs more float entries, William T. Hart, committee chairman, said today.

Companies, fraternal organizations and groups which are interested are asked to contact Hart, or Parade Marshal Carl Peotter.

So far, Hart said, the committee has about 60 entries, including about eight bands. The last Flag Day parade featured about 74 units and about the same number of bands, he said.

The committee meets at 7 o'clock tonight at the Elks club. The parade will be held June 14.

Atomic Era Problems Subject of New Volumes

Technical and moral implications of life in the atomic age are discussed in several new books added this week to the Appleton Public Library. All are on display now and will be released for circulation Friday.

Technical aspects are handled in "Around the World in 90 Minutes" by David Woodbury, the story of man-made moons and "Countdown for Tomorrow" by Martin Caidin, an account of earth satellites, rockets, missiles and the science race between the United States and Russia. In the moral area is "Some Problems of the Atomic Age" by C. A. Coulson.

Defendants' Rights. In a similar category is "Soviet Education for Science and Technology" by Alexander Korol, a survey of communist education with emphasis on science and technology.

Other non-fiction additions are "The Defendant's Right" by David Feliman, an explanation in non-legal language of laws affecting the criminal defendant; "Common Stocks and Uncommon Profits" by Philip Fisher, unconventional advice on how big money is made in the stock market; "Prosperity Through Competition" by Ludwig Erhard, an account of Germany's economy today.

"Backwardness in Reading" by M. D. Vernon, a study of its nature and origin; "The Meaning of Persons" by Paul Tournier, a psychiatrist's explanation of what it means to be a person; "Frontier Bishop" by Worth Tippy, a biography of Robert Richford Roberts; "Ezra Taft Benson" by Wesley McCune, his life and farm program.

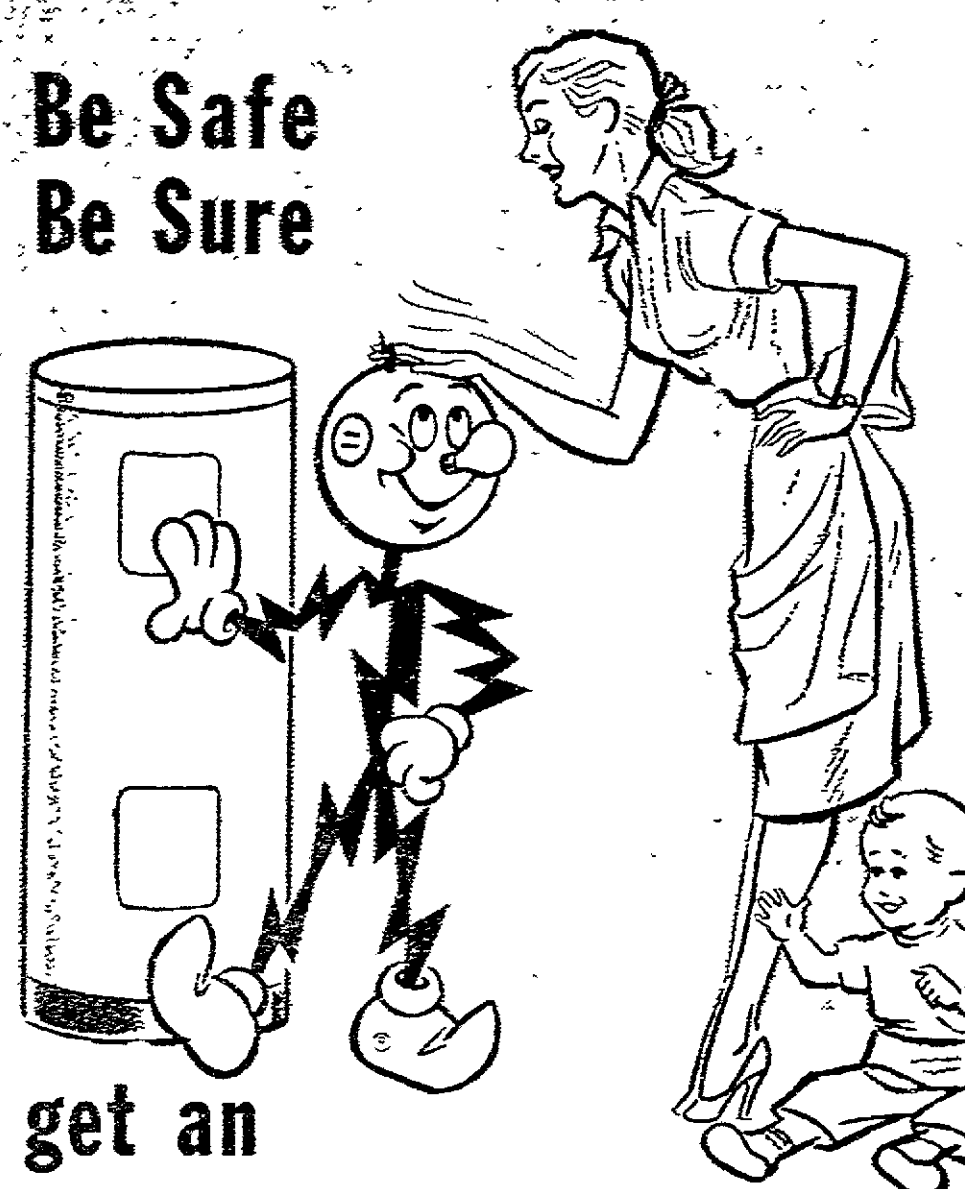

"Mama's Boarding House" by John Fitzgerald, reminiscences of a Utah town; "Children's Illnesses" by John Henderson, a guide for parents; "In God We Trust" by Norman Cousins, the religious beliefs and ideas of the founding fathers of America; "Live At Peace With Your Nerves" by Walter Alvarez, how to live comfortably.

News Picture Makes Authority

Enid, Okla. — "Rodger Cornelius, Enid ambulance driver, is flabbergasted by all the telephone calls from mothers, seeking his advice.

The mothers have called to ask him about everything from formula mixtures to medical problems concerning their children.

The rash of telephone calls was started by a picture appearing in the local newspaper, showing Cornelius comforting a 3-year-old girl who received minor injuries when she was struck by a car. Cornelius "padded the floor" in the hospital while awaiting a physician, and the child went to sleep on his shoulder.

But he hasn't been able to offer much comfort to the mothers.

"I'm a bachelor," he explains. "And what I know about babies you could put in a thumb."

by Stone Cody, "The Leopard" by Victor Reid, "Day of Battle" by Frederic Van de Water and "The Undiscovered Country" by Jay Walz.

New Haven, Conn. — Yale university's divinity school next fall will launch an extensive tutorial program, under which 250 of the school's graduate students will be assigned to professors as tutors for personal discussion periods.

Most Adopted Children Go To Relatives

Annual Report of State Division Shows Disposition

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The annual report of the state division of children and youth shows that of 1,762 children placed for adoption in the state during 1957, almost half were adopted by step-parents or relatives.

About three-fifths of all adopted children were born out of wedlock. Of 919 children adopted by non-relatives, about half were placed by private and voluntary agencies, more than 338 by public agencies, and 128 by parents or other relatives.

In another report, the state agency noted that the number of dependent and neglected children committed to state care continues to increase. At the end of the year there were nearly 2,500.

Twenty-eight per cent of the children were under six years.

Monday, May 19, 1958 Appleton Post-Crescent 36 and about 55 per cent were under the age of 12.

Counting all children's welfare programs, the caseloads have increased steadily in recent years, another analysis disclosed.

Five years ago 45.4 children per 10,000 in the state's general population were getting some form of child welfare service. By last year the ratio had grown to approximately 53.
